

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A shell structure for elecrtrocar includes an outer shell covering on an inner shell, both on the outer and the inner shells are provided with plural coupling members, the coupling members of the outer shell can be
5 quick coupled to that of the inner shell, in this way, the outer shell can be quick assembled and dismantled from the inner shell, in addition, since the shell is designed as being easy dismantable, so as to provide more shells with different colors and style to the users and allow them to change the shells as desired by themselves, and thus the shell of the 10 present invention has high marketing value.